To Whom it may concern,

I had the pleasure of visiting the MAAWS Health Complex in Senbagh, Noakhali, Bangladesh in late November of 2014 with a team of physicians from the US and was very impressed by the facility and the public health initiatives I observed. In addition to serving as the only primary care office in the area, the specific public health initiatives of clean drinking water, sanitation and hygiene education, a pediatric vaccination program, vocational training for women, and educational outreach were very commendable. This complex is a tremendous resource to the local population and clearly improves the health of not just the individuals it serves, but the greater Noakhali community in rural Bangladesh. I urge you to recognize the MAAWS Health Complex's contribution to Noakhali and request that resources be made available for the facility to continue its mission.

Sincerely yours,
