

The most valuable resource young people have is what's inside of them - that indomitable part of their spirit that wants health, harmony and happiness.

"Anyone from South Central can survive and succeed, you just have to work three times harder." So says Maynar, 17 years old.

Our job at APCH is to nurture that inner core and to help each member develop the strength, skills, tools and motivation to overcome obstacles.

APCH is a dynamic launching pad to an atmosphere where all things are possible, but there is a lot to do to prepare a young person for that moment of lift-off. As a multi-service organization, we approach the mission from many angles simultaneously. Early educational support for our youngest members includes tutoring, homework help and literacy programs. At the other end of the age spectrum, we have a dropout recovery partnership with LAUSD, an SAT and higher education prep program, and a robust college scholarship program that sent 58 young women and men to college in September 2011; and we launched our vocational development program in 2011. Along the way, we provide young people with nourishment for the mind, body and spirit, including nutritious, fresh food and a connection with the earth in our garden; athletics and team sports; visual, dance, music and media arts programs; mental health and family counseling; and rites of passage programs for the transition into adulthood.

INSIGHTS FROM THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

I will not die an unlived life. I will not live in fear of falling or catching fire.

I choose to inhabit my days, to allow my living to open me, to make me less afraid, more accessible;

To loosen my heart until it becomes a wing, a torch, a promise.

I choose to risk my significance, to live so that which came to me as seed goes to the next as blossom,

And that which came to me as blossom, goes on as fruit.

~ Dawna Markova

In the coastal forests, giant redwoods, hundreds of years old, stand in circular groves whose roots are interwoven. When great winds come, or fire races through the forest, the trees hold each other up. So it is with people. Holding each other and working together, we are stronger and more resilient.

Every day at APCH, young people are learning to tap into their inner strengths and to develop vital life skills and tools for the future. With empowerment comes new possibility, new perspective and new courage to live life fully.

This year we launched APCH SHARES, an initiative that recognizes the youth and families of South Central L.A. as important resources for their community and for the world. APCH SHARES brings our members and staff together to make a positive impact through projects such as neighborhood clean-ups, L.A. River preservation projects, and the sharing of artwork with children across the nation.

Storms of unemployment, poverty and crime have left South Central battered, but not broken. The neighborhood's young people need safety and support so they can enjoy healthy lives and develop into the leaders of tomorrow. At APCH, we are expanding our programs, and our young people are learning from the redwoods—if we stand in a circle and hold each other up, we can survive the storms and continue to grow toward the sky.

You, dear reader, can be a part of it by contributing your time, talent and treasure. Please consider getting involved as a volunteer, a partner, or a board member. It's a decision you will never regret.

Yours, in service to youth and families,

Jonathan Zeichner, Executive Director

WE'RE GONNA BE MADE IN THE SHADE

Things always heat up during the summer at APCH, but sometimes it gets so hot that the kids can't play outside on our athletic field. Thanks to the Ahmanson Foundation and Teens in Action, APCH will soon have a new shade structure and a water fountain! Now, that's cool!!!

DIRECTOR OF PROGRAMS

The past year was a roller coaster of program activity, transitions, expansions, infrastructure construction, visioning and goal setting. A Place Called Home is an agency that is never lacking in opportunity or ideas, requests for collaborations, or self-generated initiatives and it is one of the dynamics that makes this institution so alive and responsive to our community's needs. We wrapped up an amazing summer with attendance of over 300 daily-- members participating in classes, workshops, activities, and more than 80 field trips celebrating the music, dance and exciting milestones of the 20th century.

This year our program staff engaged in numerous strategic planning session to determine how we can better serve our members, families and the community at large over the next one to three years. We look forward to expanding our scholarship program, (this year we funded 58 students at colleges around the country through our Shaheen Scholarship program), and building a mentoring component to assist our members in gaining life and social competency skills. We also plan to continue the development of our new vocational development initiative, highlighted by our successful chef apprenticeship program with Patina Restaurant and Santee Educational Complex, and we will be launching intermediate and advanced Saturday classes to support progressive learning in several of our program departments. Most importantly we look forward to more extraordinary moments of talent, energy and passion to constantly remind us why this institution is so important. We invite our parents, friends and supporters to generously bring your ideas, energy, and resources and unite with us in this endeavor.

Tarabu Betserai Kirkland, Director of Programs

HORSES IN THE HOOD - A MAGICAL GATEWAY

Where our kids walk to school, concrete and graffiti are the landscape. Where our kids play, violence and gangs are a part of daily life. Where our kids dream, opportunities are limited and the ability to express one's inner life is often stifled.

A Place Called Home is a safe haven in South Central Los Angeles where underserved youth are empowered to take ownership of the quality and direction of their lives through programs in education, arts, and well-being; and are inspired to make a meaningful difference in their community and the world.

Over the past five years we have partnered with Horses in the Hood to help children broaden their horizons and give them life-changing experiences. Kathy Kushner and the Horses in the Hood staff have shown our kids, through week-long immersions in horse camp, that rid-

OUR MIDSUMMER'S DREAM BECAME A REALITY

Summer at APCH is always amazing. Summer 2011 was off the hook! 86 field trips (!!!) and a plethora of enrichment classes exposed hundreds of APCH summer members to decades of history, art, and culture. No, we didn't have a time machine, but our summer theme was "Decades." From the end of June to the end of August, our members explored the music, art, politics, culture, food, fashion and technology of the twentieth century. It was a gas, man! (a colloquial expression from the 1960's).

Among our many field trips: a weeklong surf camp, where members learned the fundamentals of riding the waves. Other standout watery field trips included boating, sailing and fishing, with a journey to Catalina Island sponsored by board member, Marshall Wax. Members visited USC's Catalina campus, went snorkeling and got to interact with sea creatures they had never even seen before.

Each week we had an amazing culminating event. Through dynamic performances, art shows and media presentations, our departments spurred each other on and demonstrated collaborative creativity. During 60's week, our Education Services department inspired all the kids to advocate for what you believe in, as they learned about the politics of the era and how Americans fought for peace and justice. And then, there's the simple joy of rocking out together, which we did week after week as we explored dances of the 20th Century, from the Waltz, to the Jitterbug to the Electric Slide, inevitably leading to everyone jumping on board the Soooouuuuulllll Traaaaiiiinnnn! It was a summer to remember! Now, what will be the theme next year, we wonder....

ing, grooming and loving horses can provide a magical experience.

A scenic drive on PCH starts and finishes each day – what a change of scenery! But, the real magic begins when the van arrives at Mill Creek Stable. Greeted by a warm and friendly staff, our youngsters meet their new four-legged friends. Lifelong memories are formed, courage grows, and teamwork and deep sensitivity for the horses emerges. Of course there are challenges and spills but no one ever leaves defeated.

The kids talk about the horses on the way home each afternoon, and run to the stables to greet the horses each morning. By the end of a week at Horse Camp, kids are helping each other groom their horses, socializing with instructors and building bonds with each other and new confidence that lasts back at APCH and out in the community.

"I like putting the saddle on my horse and trotting. It is really fun. Next year, I'm going to bring my mom too!" says Zacara Moseley, age 9.

At the end of the week there is a lot of proud showing of ribbons and horseshoes back at APCH!

At APCH we hold closure circles at the end of the day – it's, a time when our members get to express their feelings. At the end of the summer, Michelle Aguilar, 16, said, "Horses in the Hood was the best trip all summer. Some kids even fell off of their horses but were brave and got right back on. It was so cool!"

One more way APCH is expanding possibilities so our young people can ride into a beautiful and broad horizon...

STEPPING UP!

TEENS LISTEN, LOUNGE AND LEARN AT APCH

The dance department welcomed a very special guest visit in June. Ashlyne Huff, an up and coming pop artist and dancer, stopped by the studio on her nationwide tour to inspire, teach and give young dancers an opportunity to participate in a video in support of her new album. Ashlyne wanted to give our aspiring performers a window into the real world of a committed artist. It was an afternoon of friendly competition where our dancers were challenged with new combinations and had to step up to present themselves in a professional light. All the APCH dancers did a tremendous job and they were proud of themselves.

Two talented girls, Nathaly Barcenas and LaShonda Washington, were selected to be in the video. Nathaly, who is just 10 years old, burst into tears when her name was called. "It was so good and it was fun! Ashlyne was really nice and cute. I learned a lot!"

This summer, LaShonda transitioned from being a youth member to being a dance intern, and she feels that the experience with Ashlyne motivated her to really go after her dream. "It inspired me to want to become a better dancer. I had a great time. I've never done anything like that before."

Exposing young people to extraordinary opportunities is what we are all about!

September 30th was an especially exciting day of music and fun at A Place Called Home. Our Music Department hosted a wonderful "Listening Lounge: Sound Session" event featuring 2101 Records Hip-Hop Rock fusion musical group 7Lions. 7Lions spent the afternoon with APCH members and other community youth, sharing stories about the business of making music. The band performed selected tracks from their latest project, getting feedback from their young audience. This exchange between the youth and professionals was further enriched when APCH Alum and artist Fernanda Gomez, APCH Staff members Charyn Harris and Joaquin Pacheco, music industry professionals Darryl Farmer, Benny Cassette, Corey Notes and others added rich dimensions to the discussion. Youth were informed and encouraged to consider a number of career options related to the music industry.

Afterwards, our Bridge to the Future Department hosted another edition of APCH Teen Night, with music, dancing and fun, with hosting, DJ and sound engineering all handled by APCH members – special thanks to Nate "the Great" Hughes, George "Bringdamarxz" Benitez and Amor Baeza. It was great to see our teens applying everything they have learned at APCH in a real world event! Dozens of neighborhood youth enjoyed open mic performances and a set by independent artist Karina Nistal, with her Latin-injected R&B/Hip-Hop stylings. The whole evening was capped off with a line-dancing explosion! Can't wait for the next one!

ACCORDING TO LOS ANGELES POLICE DEPARTMENT STATISTICS, NEARLY HALF OF L.A.'S 60,000-80,000 GANG MEMBERS LIVE IN SOUTH CENTRAL;

MOST ARE 15 – 18 YEARS OLD, BUT SOME ARE AS YOUNG AS NINE YEARS OLD.

EDUCATIONAL SERVICES - HELPING KIDS MAKE THE GRADE

Thanks to the generosity of so many of you, the Educational Services Department at APCH is being transformed physically from the ground up; with a new beautiful floor, cooler, softer lighting, and pleasing colors, textures and sounds, we are creating a more nurturing and enriching learning environment for our members.

Learning is a lifetime adventure and all children are born with the curiosity to learn. One of our goals in the Educational Services Department is to nurture and, in some cases, revive the curiosity and love of learning in all our members. After school, our members love to participate in the other APCH departments such as Dance, Art, Music, Nutrition, and Fitness. In the Educational Services Department we also take a creative approach, but our focus is on our members' academic growth.

This fall, our members who require extra academic support will enroll in either Academic Focus A or Academic Focus B. They will be assessed by our staff and with our new software to identify their specific areas of need. Educational Services staff will lead interactive, hands-on activities in small groups and, with the assistance of interns and volunteers, will guide our members through the process of learning and strengthening new skills. Homework assistance will be available to all who seek it and we will accommodate one on one tutoring sessions for our high school students who are preparing for higher education in just a few short years.

On Fridays, we offer a variety of classes for specific interests: Science Exploration, Poetry, a Book & Movie Club, Brain Teasers, and Forgotten Heroes.

As part of a vital, multi-service center, we embrace our role as a partner with 15 neighborhood schools and we are committed to working with them to provide exemplary service to our members and to accomplish our vision of youth empowered and inspired through education.

Our thanks go out to so many for the support, the books, the volunteer tutoring – we couldn't do it without you!

BRIDGE TO THE FUTURE - OUR FIRST JOB READINESS TRAINING

For ten years our mission has included providing pathways to higher education and now APCH has committed to integrating a vocational development program for our youth. From the end of March to the beginning of April 2011, Noreen McClendon of Concerned Citizens of South Central joined APCH to facilitate job-readiness workshops for our teen members. The dozen young people that participated included Patina Restaurant apprenticeship applicants Vanessa Gutierrez,

Patricia Ochoa and Daniel Rodriguez, as well as APCH member interns

Stefon Ginn and Rosalba Lopez Galindo.

Over five weeks, participants developed skills to get a job and stay employed. Training focused on creating a mindset within participants of what it means to be a professional. Training topics included:

- Employee rights
- How to fill out a job application
- What should be on a resume
- How to professionally and successfully navigate the job interview process
- Expected professional behavior at one's job site
- How behavior outside of one's professional environment can affect their employment
- ·...and much, much more!

The training consisted of instructor presentations, interactive activities and culminating mock interviews. Students prepared resumes, wore appropriate professional attire and used their newly acquired skills and confidence to successfully navigate their interviews.

"I learned that if I set my mind to it, I can accomplish many things," explained Rosalba Lopez Galindo. "I learned not to mix up the personal and the professional. You should keep your social life out of your job." Stefon Ginn stated that, "Success is not just going to come to you. Having a job can help you succeed in your future and in your life. Also, you should never engage in office politics!"

Several of the workshop graduates went on to find employment over the summer and went back to school with new perspectives and ideas for what they want to do with their futures.

APCH SHAHEEN COLLEGE SCHOLARS SPEAK UP

THE YEAR EVERYTHING CHANGED

By Alex Ramirez

Growing up, I was always encouraged by my parents to go to college. But, no one in my family had ever gone to college so there was no role model to follow. Now that I am a student at the University of California, Berkeley, and experiencing the life of a college student, I understand just how different one's life becomes. The main challenge I faced during my first year was experiencing how different Berkeley was from my former life. I had a hard time keeping up with the fast paced classes, the amount of responsibility that came from living alone, and

A PROMISE TO MYSELF By Guadalupe Marin

The day I set foot at UCLA was probably the most amazing day of my life. I was filled with confusion, excitement, and pride. However, within the first month, I found myself struggling emotionally, academically and financially. I learned that my old high school had not prepared me and I had a lot of catching up to do. Aside from that, I was undocumented and paying for tuition would be an even greater challenge. The decision to leave UCLA was heartbreaking, but I vowed I would go back. I took classes at East Los Angeles College and began working small jobs here and there to save money to fulfill my promise to myself.

This past spring quarter was my first quarter back at UCLA since fall 2009. Walking around campus for the first couple of weeks was a little

A BRIGHTER TOMORROW By Chanelle Ignant

I knew little about the NAACP before attending its National Convention this past July. While I had read about its many legal victories during the civil rights era, I was unaware of its present endeavors. Sitting in the first mass meeting, however, I knew I was in the presence of greatness. Not because of the powerful conviction of the Association's president, Roslyn M. Brock, who, in her opening address, charged that "courage will not skip this generation", or by the encouraging words from figures like Governor Jerry Brown, Representative Maxine Waters and others. Instead, I was inspired by the passionate audience, some of whom had traveled from across the country to share their voices in the dealing with the fact that I was far away from home. It all felt too drastic.

Life as a college student was difficult for me to adapt to, but the perks have made it worth the difficulty. In the short time I have been a college student I have been exposed to many new experiences and opportunities. I had the privilege to be the first one in my family to ever visit the East Coast, meet and befriend people from different countries, begin the process of learning a third language, and begin training in martial arts. I would have never experienced any of these if I had stayed back home.

Becoming a Berkeley student was not a walk in the park. Coming from a low-income family, my parents told me they were not going to be able to fund my education and that I might have to go to community college. Hearing this made my world crumble. But thanks to the APCH Shaheen Scholarship, higher education became a reality and I am living in a new world. Thank you APCH and the Shaheen Scholarship!

challenging and I was scared. I didn't feel prepared. I felt out of place and didn't feel smart enough to be there.

With time, though, I learned new things about myself as a student and as a future leader in my community of South Central. I learned that I was just as smart as everyone else and that there was a place for me there. I knew that I had to work twice as hard and that the challenges I faced were different from most others. Although I still worry about tuition and books every quarter I know that there is one place out there that will always help me.

A Place Called Home and the people there who helped me have been simply irreplaceable during my struggle. They still are the support that allows me to keep fighting and pushing. Simply put, I could have never survived this experience without the help of A Place Called Home and the staff there. At APCH, I found people who reminded me that the reason I was there was because I was as capable of succeeding as everyone else. If it was not for APCH, I would not be a third year Political Science Major who one day will be someone who changes lives, as well. I know who I am.

continuing fight for civil rights.

In the ensuing sessions, I realized the struggle, particularly in the area of voters' rights, was not just one of the past. We were educated on the use of tactics such as Gerrymandering and voter identification requirements to limit the voting power of minorities nationwide. While overwhelmed at times, I was reassured by the tenacity of the Youth and College Division, whose conversations spilled out into hallways well after discussion panels, and who encouraged me that our generation was eager to meet these issues with practical solutions.

If my experience at the NAACP's National Convention taught me anything, it is that I, too, have been called to stand up for civil rights in my community. With the continuing support of the APCH Shaheen Scholarship and the wonderful staff at A Place Called Home, I have been equipped to do so with my studies in broadcast journalism at San Francisco State. Now, with a greater knowledge of those who came before me, and a better understanding of what lies ahead, I am committed to fighting for a brighter tomorrow.

"While both humanization and dehumanization are real alternatives, only the first is the people's vocation.

This vocation is constantly negated, yet it is affirmed by that very negation." ~ Paulo Freire

THE JOURNEY By Daniel Villa

My name is Daniel Villa, and I'm a working class Chicano from the part of the city formally known as South Central Los Angeles. I've been on this journey for 23 years, and have kept a constant dialogue with those that I've come in contact with and the world around me. On this quest I realized that making a difference and serving the community transcends any metaphysical conclusion about the meaning to live. Both our lives and the world are fragmented, and there's a need for empathy rather than sympathy in our solutions.

It has been my decision and actions that have brought me here, but it wasn't because I pulled myself up by own bootstraps. It was because I had guidance and support while facing adversity. It hurt when my father and teachers told me I would never amount to anything in life. I'd argue they did that because they were prescribing me with a role instead of allowing me to find one on my own. Nevertheless, inside A Place Called Home the staff and my peers believed in me, and whatever problem I posed to them I had someone to analyze and break it down with.

My consciousness was awakened in a youth social leadership program by my peers who all shared their social biographies. In these critical faith sessions we reflected and dialogued about the social, historical, spiritual, economical, and political aspects of current events in the world, and our lives. "Why?" was the question used to fuel discussion. "Why do Samoans feel that the only way out of economic hardship is through military service or sports?" Michael James (the program director and facilitator) asked. That statement wasn't only true about Samoans. At the time I was contemplating joining the Marines, as my way out of South Central Los Angeles. We traced this question back to World War I and World War II, and the first colonization of Samoa by the Germans. We discussed the importance of the Islands to the US during the war, and my Samoan peers shared with us family stories related to the wars. Colonization was one thing that we all had in common. This class was the crucial event in my life that solidified that our lives are not static. The past has shaped the present, and it is we who shape the future.

I'm grateful that I will be able to continue my education at the University of Southern California, none of which would have been possible without the support of the APCH Shaheen Scholarship. We face many symptoms of social issues, and treating a symptom will never fix the root problem. Through research, practice, and the help of the community my goal is to begin to find real solutions to some of these issues (e.g., education and financial literacy).

THE APCH CINDERELLA PROJECT - IT'S ALL ABOUT INNER BEAUTY

True Beauty resonates from the soul, rising to the surface through words of truth, acts of kindness and sincere smiles. True Beauty is not confined to an idealized set of physical traits, it manifests in a spectrum of shades, shapes, personalities and lifestyles. The APCH Cinderella Project invites young women to think of their beauty beyond skin deep – our invitation is for girls and women to love themselves in a way that nourishes and shines from the inside out!

In the classic fairytale of Cinderella, a young girl is transitioning into a woman, but her circumstances and the jealousy of others tell her she is not as beautiful as the rest- not worthy because she doesn't look like her sisters who are all made up and dressed in the most expensive clothing and jewels. But, through Cinderella's commitment to be true to her heart and to be helpful and giving, she is ultimately seen for her true beauty and she discovers something that riches can't buy: True Beauty transcends all negative circumstances and makes the world a better place for everyone.

This past May, the APCH Cinderella Project 2011 focused on conveying the concept of inner beauty to 928 girls. Yes, the young ladies received dresses, shoes, accessories, and perfume for their upcoming proms and graduations, all the elements to dress up the outside, but the girls also received tips, guidance and opportunities for developing their inner beauty.

The young ladies learned practices to boost self-confidence and inner growth and insure that on their special night (and beyond), they can be true to themselves and good to others. They were even encouraged to sign up to volunteer at APCH or some other community center. Outward beauty will fade with time. True Beauty just gets better and better.

In 2012 we will be adding Prince Charming to the event! To donate dresses and suits, contact: gilbert@apch.org.

HOW THE MAGIC BEGAN

11 years ago, Dana Green had a plan to help underprivileged young women sparkle and shine at their proms and graduations. Dana's vision has spread near and far, as Cinderella Projects and events like it can be found in many different states around prom time. The partnership with APCH has served thousands of girls in South Central and beyond, and now, with Dana's blessing, we are taking it to a whole new level of meaning and impact.

Cinderella Project 2012 will have a whole new look, and we are adding The Prince Charming Project to allow young men to receive donated suits so they can accompany their prom and graduation dates in style. To match our inner beauty theme for the girls, we are providing workshops and speakers to focus on inner strength and ways to "be a man" that are all about using masculine strength to help others. Our beautiful princesses and princes will be supported in developing mutual respect and finding ways to give back and make their marks in the world.

In addition to donations of dresses, shoes, jewelry and men's suits, we are looking for just the right corporate and small business sponsors. Please email gilbert@apch.org for more information or to get involved.

"I started the Cinderella Project as a way to give back to the young women of our community. Hopefully the young women who are this year's beneficiaries will in turn give back to the community in some way." ~ Cinderella Project Creator, Dana Green

GIRLPOWER PROJECT 2011 TAKES IT TO A WHOLE NEW LEVEL

GirlPower 2011 had 14 girls enrolled, and it was inspiring to see them find their voices and develop their self respect and the respect of everyone around them. One of the important lessons they focused on was about respecting other people's opinions and agreeing to disagree sometimes. The value of really seeing each other as individuals with different perspectives brought major breakthroughs in their circle of sisterhood.

GirlPower this year also placed an emphasis on volunteerism in the South L.A. community and at APCH. The girls participated in many different service projects, including a Los Angeles River Clean-up, The Children Mending Arts Project, where they made t-shirts and backpacks for the children of Haiti and Japan, and the APCH Cinderella Project, where the GP Girls helped more than 900 other young ladies choose free dresses and accessories for their proms and graduations.

Young people need help with identifying who they are inside. This year GirlPower became all about giving back to the community and taking a leadership role in helping others. Through developing inner beauty and strength, the GP Girls began to define new roles for themselves in life. They began to express themselves and open up to each other in a new way that allowed for deeper understanding and appreciation.

At the GirlPower Awards Luncheon last May, the Girls shared the stage with our peerless host, Shondrella Avery, and five very accomplished honorees; journalist Laura Ling, fashion pioneer Pamela Skaist-Levy, Councilwoman Jan Perry, author Katherine Schwarzenegger, and Guru Mommy Linda Meadow. In front of several hundred guests, our Girls gave voice to their dreams and aspirations, named their heroes, and declared what GirlPower means to them. Weeks and months of training in life skills, self-esteem, decision making, time management, etiquette, public speaking, college and career preparation, and community awareness came together in an instant and the Girls walked off that stage differently than they had walked onto it. The world needs empowered women more than ever – and here they come!

CHANGING THE WORLD

STARTS AT HOME

CHANGING APCH STARTS WITH YOU

On Saturday morning, June 25, 2011, our first-ever Stakeholder Circle met at APCH. There were parents, members of different ages, interns, volunteers, our executive director, staff members and an APCH Board member. The goal was to convene a representative spectrum of those who care and are most affected by what happens at APCH, to get caught up on current events, share concerns, needs, desires and visions of "what can be" at APCH, and to come away with recommendations for APCH leadership to consider as we move forward – how can APCH be even better?

Each stakeholder shared a story about the place APCH has in his/her life. There were stories of change and pain, of challenge and hope, and of love and healing. We laughed and cried together, like families do, and then we got down to business.

Participants were invited to co-vision about the future – what APCH programs need to be strengthened and added to better serve members? Highlights included:

- Create a Charter school so kids can attend all day
- Create a Teen Center that focuses on real teen issues and provides more mentoring

THANK YOU TO THE STAKEHOLDER CIRCLE PARTICIPANTS

YOUNG PROFESSIONALS HAVE FUN AND MAKE A DIFFERENCE AT APCH

The A Place Called Home Leadership Council was established in 2007 to include young professionals and artists in the fundraising and strategic planning for APCH. Members of the LC learn about board development and have a voice in the long term direction of the organization. Two LC members, Doug Atchison and Julie Pilat have gone on to join the APCH Executive Board, with Doug currently helming the Board as chairman.

"Stars and Strikes" is the Leadership Council's signature bowling and poker fundraising event, held every March (next edition, March 14, 2012: please visit apch.org for details). For 2011, the Leadership Council has developed another great event, "A Place Called Home for the Holidays Festival" including a Toy, Book and Clothing Drive that will distribute holiday gifts to 2,000 families in South Central. LC fundraising and friendraising events welcome early career professionals who want to have fun and discover the fulfillment making a positive difference in the world. Attendees have a grand time and often choose to become LC members and/or volunteers at APCH. Says Jonathan Hodge, Vice President of Investments at UBS and Co-Chair of the Leadership Council, "When we see the smiling faces of the kids and the commitment of the APCH staff, it provides us with a sense of purpose and a reason for being involved with the Leadership Council. Adds Co-Chair, Debbie Cerrito, Account Executive at Clear Channel Communications, "Oftentimes we are caught up in building our careers, which is great, but APCH gives us the opportunity to step back and realize there is a bigger purpose to our everyday lives."

Would YOU like to learn more about the APCH leadership Council? Please email info@apch.org with your inquiry and we'll get back to you!

APCH WELCOMES TWO NEW BOARD MEMBERS

Serving on the Board of Directors for A Place Called Home requires a significant commitment of time, energy and resources. We are pleased to announce the inclusion of two new members, bringing our total board number to 22 dedicated individuals from many different backgrounds, professions and life histories, all unified to support A Place Called Home in it mission to sustain, nurture and improve the lives of youth and families in South Central Los Angeles.

Dawn Taubin is one of the most highly regarded executives in entertainment marketing. After a 19-year career in marketing at Warner Bros. Pictures, Taubin recently started her own company, Cinema Vision, and she is a Professor of Public Relations and Advertising at the Dodge College of Film and Media Arts at Chapman University in Orange, CA. Dawn has volunteered at APCH for years, and in 2007 she was honored at our annual APCH Gala for the Children. Dawn and her whole family have stayed involved, and Dawn says, "Being a part of A Place Called Home has been very important to our family. We've made a difference, and it has changed our lives and made us aware of the community around us." Now, Dawn is on the Board and has stepped into the role of Co-Chair of the 2011 Gala. Welcome, Dawn, we are thrilled to have you!

As the Senior Vice President of Worldwide Marketing and TV & Studio Licensing at Warner Bros. Consumer Products, Maryellen Zarakas is responsible for identifying, developing and executing marketing priorities, strategy, and plans for all WB properties worldwide.

One of her favorite quotes is from Thomas Edison: "The greatest invention in the world is the mind of a child." As someone in the entertainment field who is fortunate enough to have been exposed to music, dance, art, etc., Maryellen says, "It is my responsibility to bring these incredible experiences to others, and especially to children—to contribute to their lives by giving them access to creating a healthy, balanced and personally fulfilling life. I cannot think of a better way to make that happen than through the wonders of this amazing APCH community."

Interested in getting involved at a Board of Directors level? Please email our Executive Director at: jonathan@apch.org.

APCH FAMILY MOVIE NIGHTS PROVIDE A COMMUNITY EXPERIENCE

There is something magical about a summer night, picnic blankets spread on the ground, and the smell of popcorn breezing through the air. The lights go down, the music comes up, and right there in the middle of South Central L.A., 300-400 people are transported on a journey together that makes them happy and brings them closer together. Moms and dads get a rare date night, the kids get to play, or sit and watch safely, or snuggle under a family blanket.

In a neighborhood with no movie theaters, APCH provides free family film screenings -- no cussing, no bloody gun battles, just lots of laughs and great stories that offer a respite from the intrusive real sounds of sirens and helicopters that too often permeate the neighborhood.

The experience of watching a great movie outside with friends and neighbors feels like a wonderful adventure and we love providing it throughout the spring and summer. In the winter, we partner up with All People's Christian Center and bring our equipment over to their gymnasium, where it fills up, too.

Thanks, Warner Bros., for supporting us in providing these simple, memorable, pleasurable nights for the kids and families of South Central. We look forward to many, many sequels.

BOWLING AND POKER FOR THE CAUSE!

STARS & STRIKES - DEFINITELY A FUndraiser to remember!

600 celebrities and guests took to the lanes and poker tables for a jampacked night of fun to celebrate and support A Place Called Home's 5th Annual Stars & Strikes Celebrity Bowling & Poker Tournament. The dedication and long hours put in by APCH Leadership Council superstars Zach Abo, Sixx Carter, Debbie Cerrito, Danielle Djansezian, Liz Hernandez, Jonathan Hodge, Jennifer Koster, Alex Larson, Julie Pilat, Mallory Portillo, Lori Rischer, Louie Rubio, Maggie Venneri and Karimah Westbrook paid off as they raised more than $100,000 for A Place Called Home.

From Miley Cyrus and Cody Simpson to Cee Lo Green, RedOne and Howie Mandel, the stars were there in force. "Not only were the kids having a blast but you could tell people were passionate about contributing to such a great cause," said LA Galaxy forward Bryan Jordan, who grew up near South Central LA. "Everyone was happy to see kids with smiles on their faces and I was glad to have the opportunity to be involved."

We want to especially thank Whole Foods Market for donating fresh, healthy and delicious hors d'oeuvres and dinner. No fun bowling on an empty stomach!

Changing The World Starts At Home THANK YOU FOR YOUR SUPPORT!

FROM DOUG ATCHISON, THE CHAIRMAN OF THE BOARD

The challenges facing our young people have never been more acute. And the resources provided by A Place Called Home and its supporters have never been more necessary.

More Americans are hungry and without homes than in any other time since the Great Depression. Unemployment stubbornly remains at record highs. And 35% of Hispanic children and 39% of Black children now live below the poverty line. These statistics are amplified in the inner city where the threats of drugs and gang violence compound economic dangers.

A recent cover story in The Atlantic described how the American middle class is disappearing. But the article also detailed measures for rescuing today's young people from threadbare existences. Many of the prescribed remedies were ones APCH has been providing its members for years: educational support, vocational training, scholarships, and an environment of love, protection, and encouragement. APCH is a laboratory for developing new paths of success that must be forged if this country's inner city youth are to avoid lives of despair, imprisonment, or early death.

While other non-profits wither from lack of funding, APCH is growing and setting its sights on a more ambitious future. That is because our supporters recognize the profound and lasting change kindled in our members once they enter our doors and avail themselves of our broad menu of programs and services. Whenever I visit the center, I see for myself the very real progress happening in these kids' lives. They avoid the pitfalls so many of their peers encounter. By and large, children at APCH stay in school, stay out of trouble - and increasingly go on to college. Our members are not a drag on society but are finding work and building families of their own.

APCH and agencies like it are the answer to the ills our communities and country face. Our government alone cannot solve our problems. Nor can we as individuals always make it by ourselves. Community centers like A Place Called Home bridge the gap between the public and private sectors by providing the essential tools at-risk kids need to succeed - and letting them know they are not alone in their struggle.

I thank you for your continued investment in this vital response to our community's challenges. Together we will help our young people overcome the perils of their environment and forge productive, prosperous, and charitable lives.
